Feedback from people with disability who have received assistance through JobAccess in the past 12 months

It is a fantastic service! It is great to be able to access a professional sign language interpreter for the meetings I have at work. I am very, very thankful for the assistance I receive, I would be unemployed if this service was not provided!

Thank you! I can now move around my office much more freely. My daily duties and responsibilities no longer suffer due to chronic pain...

This equipment has provided me with brilliant opportunities to be more included in the team by being available more days per week. Thanks for supplying me with this equipment so that I now have these opportunities.

I really appreciate the opportunity JobAccess gives me in maintaining my professional independence so thank you.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE

Feedback from employers who have received assistance through JobAccess in the past 12 months

Though the assistance of JobAccess, we were able to support Mike perform his role to the required standard...Knowing how to use the built in magnifier in the windows system and the keyboard with larger letters/numbers made the difference. Mike has been able to adjust to computer work, hasn't missed a day off work in months, and is a happy productive member of my team. The support provided to him was fundamental to Mike performing his role, and it is very much appreciated. Thanks a million!*

Thank you for all the support you have provided to our staff with disability – you provide a fantastic service and you have been very patient with me as I have “learned the ropes” this year.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE

Feedback from employers who have received assistance through JobAccess in the past 12 months

I believe that your service is one of the most important and efficient components of supporting jobs for people with disabilities in Australia. You maintain taxpayers in employment - the business case for JobAccess is a strong one. Employment flows on to other social and financial benefits for our community. JobAccess needs to continue and grow.

You listened, allowing me to explain the situation, and provided good advice. We have now put the advice in progress, and will work to create an employment opportunity for a young person with disability. A supplementary benefit of your advice has been to promote confidence among staff that employment will be created and this has been an affirmation of their effort to support the young person with disability. This confidence and early success will act to motivate the staff to further expand our support to people with a disability. Thank you!
